BROOKLYN ITEMS.

Rossery.-Yesterday, about noon, a man entered the house of Theodore Potadamer in Sand attreet, near Jay, by the basement door, and carried off a basket of eliver ware, valmed at $175. The servant had just placed the articles in a basket and put it on the table. She saw the man go out of the floor, and raising an alarm, Officer Kent, of the Second District Police Spursned and arrested him. Finding his load too heavy, the thief dropped it on the sidewalk and it was recovered. The fellow was brought before Justice Smith and committed. He gave his name as William Smith.

MATCR'S MYSSAGE.-The Fifth Annual Message of MAYOR'S BISSAGE.—The Fifth Annual Message of Mayor Manners, was read last evening in the Jersey City Com-mon Council, and ordered printed. After referring to the ad-vantages of Jersey City for commercial, manufacturing and general business purposes, the Mayor remarks that all of these general business purposes, the haryof remarks that all of these advantages fail to meet due appreciation at the hands of the city leak laters. The recommendations of the Chief Magistrate repeatedly urged for the development of these advantages. Although cautiously received, fail to gain proper attention in the Common Council. He urges economy in the finances, and especially the preservation of the credit of the city. The debt of the city ander from the cost of the #50.000, and this debt, although comparatively small, is annually increasing. In the Convention held by authority of the Common Council, to amend the Charter, progress was affected, but the work was not completed in season for the action of the State Legislature, and was left incomplete. The Council is urged to fittish this work. A general assessment map is recommended, by which taxes can be levied and assessments made as a remedy for the public complaints about the present system. The management of the Alme House Department is well spoken of, and the erection of a work house in connection therewith is recommended. The cause of education has recovered due attention. Other matters of interest were also referred to at considerable length.

SUPERIOR COURT-TRIAL TERM-May 27-Before Judge OAKLEY.

The case of Fry agt. Bennett gets on but slowly, and Judge Oakley has intimated several times that, unless more progress is made. Friday night will shut down on the combaratise—the battle still unfinished. If this is so, the west will have been utterly wasted, as the Term ends and the Juries are discharsed at its termination.

BROOKLYN CITY COURT—May 27—Before Judge Culvers. David Pierce and another at! James Hanford and G. W. Brush.

This cause having occupied several days, was given to the Jury yesterday morning. The action was brought against Coroner Hanford and the other defendant for $5.000 damages, alleged to have been sustained in the attempt to raise the brig William H. Safford, which was sunk by the ice at the foot of Hudson avenue, in February last. The Judge, in his charge, said there were three issues raised by the pleadings, viz. The ownership of the vessel, its value, and whether it was legally a wrock. The questions, therefore, for the Jury to consider were, first, whether it had been proved that the plaintiffs were awners of the brig; econd, whether defendants had interfered with it; and third, whether the Coroner had any authority for such interference. In regard to the first two points there did not appear to be much doubt, as they were substantially admitted in the defendants answer. In relation to the third, although it was, perhaps, more a question of law than of fact, still be thought there were some points for the consideration of the Jury. If the Coroner has a statute right to take possession of a wreck he must take it in virtue of the statute; and in order to justify his interference it must be a wreck with in the meaning of the statute, and which no one appeared to claim. Blackstone defined a wreck to be where a vessel, cargo, &c., were cast on shore, and it was for the Jury to decide whether this was a legal wreck. To have given the Coroner of Kirgs County a right to interfere, the wreck must have been within the jurisdiction of Kings County, and they would therefore have to consider also whether, if this was a legal wreck, it was within this county. The charter of the city of New York fixed the boundantes of the County of New York at low-water mark and within the jurisdiction of Kings County, and they would therefore have to consider also whether, if this was a legal wreck, it was within the links of the C BROOKLYN CITY COURT-May 27-Before Judge Culver.

TUESDAY, May 27-P. M. There was a much stronger feeling at the Stock

Board to day, with a disposition to operate for a rise in the leading fancies. The advices from Washington are looked upon as less unfavorable, and as indicating that, although Mr. Crampton might be dismissed, it would be done in a manner to give no offense to the British Government. The Bank statement had also a favorable effect. The aggregate trans actions were larger than for many days past. At the Second Beard the market lost its buoyancy, and prices fell off {#} per cent. the Circular of Messrs. Marié & Kanz for the steamer says:

"Our last advices were of the 18th instant. Since, the market has evinced a general improvement, the fears of any serious difficulty with Great Britain having nearly disappeared, notwithstanding the almost certain dismissal of the British Embassador, which new seems to have been resolved upon for mere personal reasons. A marked increase in the supply of money and the beaviness in the rates of forein excharges have livelier demand for investment as well as epoculative stocks; the rise, especially on the latter, is from 1 to 3 per sent, and the market, essisted by the very favorable weekly exhibit of our banks, and the more encouraging European news received this morning per Baitle, closes with considerable firumess.

"Statz Stocks.—Firm without much activity. Virginia advanced i, Missouri I, Louisiana II, Indiana I, while California 7: sold at a decline of 1 per cent.

"City and County Bonns.—The demand for foreign account shows a triflig increase, but still is of a mere retail character."

Messrs. Decoppet & Co. say:

"The general feeling in our market is more satisfactory. The conditioning one of the last dispatches of the English Minister to the Washington Government, published the day following our advices of the 18th inst, has dispatched apprehension on that core, and our Stock market, favored besides by a more decided ease in money imports, immediately impoved, The alcance in prices has been general; but the rise is especially marked, and without exception, on the Railroad Stocks, as may be seen in our subjoined table of daity quota tona. Operations, nevertheless, are limited within very moderate bounds. The avorable tenor of the news from Liverpool (to the 14th inst.) received to-day has given more decision to the improvement already existing.

"City and County Bonds have somewhat recovered from their previous entire inaction. These have been sales of San Francisco lits at a small advance, and also a resul demand for Bes Mones and Henry Countres,

The steamer to day brings favorable comm advices. In consequence of the unexpectedly small amount of the loan asked for by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, £5,000,000, Consols had advanced about 1 th cent, closing at 23\frac{3}{4} at 3\frac{1}{4}. The Money market was still stringent but ease was look for soon. The private letters are written in a cheerful tone, and the writers anticipate an early decline in the Bank rate of interest. In American Stocks there was not much deing, but the market was steady, Cotton and Breadstuffs were without important change.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer in his interview

The Chancellor of the Exchequer in his interview with the leading London capitalists, said:

"I think that in order to prevent any misunderstanding I should perhaps tell you that the loan which is now proposed is calculated to cover the whole of the estimated expense of the year, with the exception of £2,000,000; and that I propose to take power to issue securities, probably in the nature of exchequer bonds, with the alternative of issuing exchequer bits in case the market should be favorable to such an operation. This £2,000,000 will under no circumstances, according to my calculation, be required until the end of the present year, and perhaps not until the first quarter of next year; and it will cover the entire estimate of expense which is now before the public for the year. It will be in the discretion of the Government to determine what course shall be incurred; but at present we have no reason to expect that there will be any excess.

"Mr. Chapel—Is it intended to fund any of these exchequer bills?

"The Chancellor of the Exchequer—It is not my present intention to take any steps for that purpose.

"The Lord Mayor—Will the £2,000,000 be the subject of tender; or, if not, what course will be pur sued?

"The Chapecilia of the Exchequer—The matter.

sued?

The Chancellor of the Eveleguer—The matter will be dealt with in the usual way. Our precise course will depend upon the expenditure of the year and the produce of the revenue. I need scarcely tell you that, as it is difficult to estimate the expenditure of a war, so it is also difficult to estimate the expense of a war, so it is also difficult to estimate the expense of bringing home troops, which is one of those things which are out of the ordinary course. It is, there fore, impossible that the Government can know whether or not the whole of the £2,000,000 will be required. Of course the Government will issue the securities in the manner which will be most convenient, and in which they will be most likely to obtain good terms. The powers taken in the act will be of the usual kind.

The London Shipping and Mercantile Gazette of

The London Shipping and Mercantile Gazette of the evening of the 13th inst. says:

"The Money market is easier and tighter by fits and starts, for while money was lent on the Stock Exchange yesterday in some quarters at 5 to 6 $\tilde{v}$ cent, in other places it was worth only 4\frac{1}{2} to 5 $\tilde{V}$ cent. Out of doors there is some discrepancy about current rates, for while certain houses do nothing under 6 $\tilde{V}$ cent, others are discounting first-class bills for 5\frac{1}{2} $\tilde{V}$ cent.

"Capitalists are preparing for the payment of the deposit on their application for participation in the new loan. This necessarily acts on the market."

The gold arrivals in England for the week amount to £2.500,000. Since these arrivals the Ocean Chief

The Times of the 14th says:

"The English funds opened steadily this morning, and in the latter part of the day experienced an advance of three eighths $\psi$ percent. The first quotation of Consols for money was $2\frac{1}{2}$ to $3\frac{3}{2}$ and they ranged between $2\frac{1}{2}$ and $93$ until after the interview between the Chancellor of the exchequer and the capitalists on the new lean, when they improved to $9$ to $9$ for money, and $9$ it $9$ for the 4th of June. After regular hours, increased buoyancy was manifested, and numerous operations took place for June at $9$ to $9$ increased buoyancy was manifested, and numerous operations took place for June at $9$ to $9$ increased to consisted in the statement of the Chancellor of the Exchequer that no farther loan in Consols is contemplated after the present one, and that the numeet limit of any additional requirements is likely to be $2,000,000, of which, if it should be called for, will be raised in Exchequer bonds or bills about the commencement of next year. An increasing anticipation of a more easy state of the money market in consequence of the arrivals of specie now taking place likewise contributed to support prices, although it is expected that the temporary pressure for the deposit of $19$ cent, on all the applications for the new loan will be severe."

The new loan of $2,000,000 was to be taken on ations for the new lean will be severe."

The new lean of £5,000,000 was to be taken on Monday, 19th inst., and the first installment to be paid on the following Thursday.

The London News of the 14th says:

"The demand for money was to day active in nearly all quarters. In the Stock Exchange the current rate was identical with that charged by the Bank for loans on Government. Securities, viz., 6 v cent. Until the release of the surplus deposits on the loan next week the market must be exceptionally disturbed, as the aggregate of the subscriptions, will doubtless be far in excess of the sum required by Government.

"At Paris to day the Three per Cent. Reutes closed at 75 for money, and 75.30 for account, showing scarcely any variation from the final quotations of yesterday. Bank of France shares have atvanced to 4.000f. Yesterday was observed as a holiday on the other continental Stock markets." The London News of the 14th says:

Extracts from letters received by Ellwood Walter, esp. Secretary of the Board of Underwriters:

Loxdon, May 14—The Planet, from Shanghae, with over 1,100 bales of silk, valued at about £100 000, and a considerable quantity of tea, was run down in the Channel on Sunday night, and surk in about 25 fathoms. Efforts are shout to be made to try and raise her. Insurances to the extent of about £20,000 have been effected in Lloyd's and other offices in Lendon on the S. C. Thwime's cargo, lost on the Island of Lessoe. Instructions have been sent by telegraph to recover the earge from the vessel. If necessary an agent, and steam and suiling vessels, will be sent from England.

Livercott, May 14,—The master of the Lucy Ring has determined on discharging her cargo at Waterford and repairing his ship, notwithstanding the strong remonstrances made by cargo interests.

Mr. Bayley, who went over to the ship Racer, (where at Arkiow Bank), from London, to assist in saving property, writes me that the vessel was fast saminar; that her cargo gras all under water; many of her atores, and everything partable, had been carried oil by wreckers, despite the attempt, feells as it was futile, of the coast guardsmen to prevent such wholesale plunder. Little can be done to save the ship; but he thought sume portion of her cargo might be recovered if prompt measures were taken. A meeting of shippers was called, and an armagement has been entered into with steam-owners and divers, for allow 40 per cent salvage on all goods or stores landed at Liverpool. If the weather holds fine I expect that efforts the best of the coast guardsmen to prevent such wholesale will prove successful. They let for the wreck this morning. The built will be sold as it like.
